

THE CANVAS WAITING

CHASING COLOR

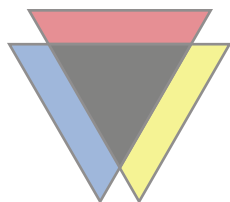

ROSTER: Colin Campbell (Guitar), Josh Rodgers (Drums), Nathan Medina (Vocals, Guitar), Chris Applegate (Bass)

The Canvas Waiting has garnered a host of loyal fans since their formation in 2005. With their first release, In Search of Beginnings, the passion and talent of singer Nathan Medina was undeniable and captivated audiences both on the album and through his convincing live performances. With the addition of Josh Rodgers on drums, Colin Campbell on guitar, and Chris Applegate on bass, the group's sound has matured into a collection of reflective and unforgettable melodies rooted in intelligent songwriting.

The concept and music for their newest album, Chasing Color, began taking shape almost a year and a half ago and represents a collection of events, observations, and images the band members experienced during that time. Beginning in March of this year, the album began to truly solidify with the help of Grammy-winning producer Stephen Short (Augustana, Camera Can't Lie). After months of refining and honing the message of each song, the band spent a week with Short at Sonic Ranch Studios in West Texas to record the album. Upon returning home, they enlisted Austin-based producer CJ Eiriksson (U2, Matchbox 20, Blue October) to co-produce and mix the album.

If their sophomore album set the standard of intensity and depth that this band is capable of achieving, Chasing Color certainly surpasses even that. With rich layers and intricate melodies, they have mastered the art of creating something that sounds both immense and accessible, giving listeners the sense that they are experiencing rather than just listening.

The Canvas Waiting have shared the stage with: Mute Math, Sister Hazel, Toadies, The Rocket Summer, The Format, Matt&Kim, Kevin Max, Girl Talk
